VALUE WE OFFER

NWTRPA has many sponsorship opportunities and invites you to review this guide listing our events, initiatives, and company benefits. By sponsoring NWTRPA, you are investing in vibrant, healthy communities.

Unique Marketing Channels

In addition to our Membership, NWTRPA partners with Indigenous governments, non-government organizations, and community governments to build a territory where everyone has access to recreation and land-based programs. The network exponentially maximizes your investment in a partnership with us.

They are aware of the partnerships that contribute to strong, healthy families, strong cultures, and vibrant communities. Aligning with our events and organization results in great exposure for your business to our valued, targeted audiences.

Social Media & Online Exposure

NWTRPA's social network is a large audience of Recreation and On The Land leaders. It includes a diverse group of professionals, volunteers, and government administrators across the NWT, and nation-wide. We are skilled at using social platforms to engage with our far-reaching, active network.

Proven Track Record of Accountability

NWTRPA has been active for over 30 years in the NWT. We are proud to have earned the trust of those who invest in sponsorship with us, our members, and NWT communities. NWTRPA is working with intention to advance decolonization and reconciliation through its work, workplaces, and relationships.

GET ACTIVE COMMUNITY GRANTS

Get Active is a grant program that supports community leaders in hosting physically active events for the public. Based on the reported number of individuals attending Get Active events, it is estimated that between 3,500 and 6,500 individuals in the NWT are impacted by Get Active every year. This represents up to 15% of the NWT population!

ON THE LAND PROGRAM SUPPORT

NWTRPA believes that spending time on the land is vital for building and strengthening healthy minds, bodies, families, and communities. Colonial policies, including residential schools, sought to remove Indigenous peoples from their territories and break their connection with the land. On the Land programs are an important part of revitalizing cultures, languages, and traditions.

The NWTRPA works with people leading and supporting land-based programs to identify and deliver relevant training opportunities. The NWTRPA is an authorized provider of wilderness and remote first aid courses, and Paddle Canada courses.
